

Glass

Riya Bhalwal

Time and time again my heart shatters
At every such instance
He who wields the hammer steals a piece
I repair her without noticing she is not whole
And give her to someone else
With a shiny mallet in his pocket
One day I shall not have a heart to give at all